

CURRICULUM VITAE: Prof. Mario Capecchi

Investigator of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute, USA
Professor of Human Genetics at the University of Utah School of Medicine, USA
Distinguished Professor of Human Genetics and Biology and co-chairman of the Department of Human Genetics

Education:

1961 B.S. in chemistry and physics from Antioch College, USA
1967 Ph.D. in Biophysics from Harvard University, Cambridge, USA

Awards:

1992 Bristol-Myers Squibb Award
1993 Gairdner Foundation International Award
1994 General Motors Corporation's Alfred P. Sloan Jr. Prize
1996 German Molecular Bioanalytics Prize
Kyoto Prize in Basic Sciences
1998 Baxter Award for Distinguished Research in the Biomedical Sciences
1999 Colby Presidential Endowed Chair
2000 Italian Premio Phoenix-Anni Verdi Award
2001 Spanish Jiménez-Díaz Prize
Albert Lasker Award
National Medal of Science
2002 John Scott Medal Award
Massry Prize
2002/2003 Wolf Prize in Medicine
2003 Pezcoller Foundation-AACR International Award for Cancer Research
2005 March of Dimes Prize in Developmental Biology
2007 Jacob Hessel Gabbay Award in Biotechnology and Medicine
2007 Nobel Laureate, Physiology or Medicine with Oliver Smithies and Martin Evans

Scientific career:

1967-1969 Junior Fellow of the Society of Fellows at Harvard University
1969-1971 Assistant Professor in the Department of Biochemistry, Harvard School of Medicine
1971-1973 Associate Professor in the Department of Biochemistry, Harvard School of Medicine
1973-1988 Professor of Biology at the University of Utah